Across the series, the contenders redesign commercial spaces, from shops to restaurants and salons. The International Association of Lighting Designers (IALD) focuses on architectural lighting design. However, the IALD Education Trust includes theatrical lighting design students in its work. The episode was written by Chris McKenna and directed by Dan Eckman. While the inclusion of Subway in the show is a paid product placement, Dan Eckman noted they were given complete freedom of how to include the brand in the story. The School of Architecture was established in 1965 with Professor Graves as Dean. The school was located in Pence Hall, the former physics building on UK's campus. That year, the program also received its first accreditation from the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). The School became a college in 1967. By 1971, the college had grown to over four hundred students; to accommodate this growth, space in Miller Hall was given to the college and a selective admission policy was adopted.

Interior architecture Interior architecture is the design of a building or shelter from the inside out, or the design of a new interior for a type of home that can be fixed Interior architecture is the design of a building or shelter from the inside out, or the design of a new interior for a type of home that can be fixed. The latter is often part of sustainable architecture practices, whereby resources are conserved by "recycling" a structure through adaptive redesign. It can refer to the initial design and plan used for a building's interior, to that interior's later redesign made to accommodate a changed purpose, or to the significant revision of an original design for the adaptive reuse of the shell of the building concerned

Generally referred to as the spatial art of environmental design, interior architecture also refers to the process by which the interiors of buildings are designed to address all aspects of the human use of their structural spaces. Put simply, interior architecture is the design of an interior in architectural terms. == Asia ==
