A spin-off series titled Marriage Rescue premiered on June 2, 2019.

Dino and Carlo's Dino and Carlo's, also known as Dino—Carlo, and Deno and Carlo's, was an American bar and music venue active from 1965 until 1968, and located at 728 Dino and Carlo's, also known as Dino—Carlo, and Deno and Carlo's, was an American bar and music venue active from 1965 until 1968, and located at 728 Vallejo Street in the North Beach neighborhood of San Francisco, California History Biography Dino and Carlo's showcased new musical groups, poets, and artists. Most just in the beginning of their careers and many to later become well known. The performers were never paid, they put a hat on the front of the small stage to earn some compensation for their performance. The clientele included longshoreman and hippies. It was a very small club with a small rectangular stage, which barely fit bands like Creedence Clearwater Revival (CCR). CCR had a steady weekly gig performing at Dino and Carlo's. Postcrypt is one of the few free, all volunteer-run venues in New York. Its size is also notable: according to the fire code, it can legally only host 35 people at a time, giving the venue a very intimate feel, and making it possible to have music without any sort of amplification. The AIA Guide to New York City describes the Postcrypt Coffeehouse as "the most haunting performance space in the City", and "a great place to find yourself during a blackout".

On September 22, 2020, it was announced that the series would move to another ViacomCBS (now Paramount Skydance) network, as part of a since-rescinded plan to shift the Paramount Network to television films and miniseries. Bar Rescue's move also never took place, as its eighth season premiered on Paramount Network on May 2, 2021. The eighth season focused on Taffer's residence of Las Vegas, a city whose hospitality industry was devastated during the COVID-19 pandemic, then returned with episodes of bars throughout the United States in its traditional...

History Michael Morton is the son of Zorine and Arnie Morton, who founded Morton's Steakhouse restaurants. His father was of Jewish descent. Raised in Chicago, Morton spent most of his young life in restaurants, which contributed to his co-founding the N9NE Steakhouse in 2000 with Scott DeGraff. Before co-founding N9NE, Morton and DeGraff were known for having opened Drink and Eat, Too in Chicago in 1992. The psychedelic dance club featured inventive touches like a VIP bar in an elevator shaft and drinks served in baby bottles; they would later open Drink! in Las Vegas in 1995. Morton and DeGraff had many successful years with N9NE Group, opening Las Vegas-based megaclub Rain, the tower-topping Ghostbar and N9NE Steakhouse, which created a trend of club-like restaurants that dominate the Strip today. Morton has been credited for having... 5c3538cc89 The bar was owned by and named after Dino Pettuchi and Carlo Morilla. It was managed by Lou 'the Glue' Marcelli, who was also well known to members of the Dolphin Club in San Francisco. In 1969, Freddie Herrera bought Dino and Carlo's, and he opened a rock and roll club in the location and named it the Keystone Korner. 5c3538cc89

The building housing L'Ermitage was originally constructed in 1975 and was intended to contain condominiums. Developer Severyn Ashkenazy and his brother Arnold Ashkenazy transformed the building into an 111-suite luxury hotel. The name L'Ermitage was chosen in honor of the Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg. Arnold Ashkenazy was an art collector, and L'Ermitage eventually featured some of the prominent pieces that he owned, including oil paintings by Vincent van Gogh and Pierre-Auguste Renoir. 5c3538cc89 Many poets had presented their work, among them were Allen Ginsberg, and Richard Brautigan. 5c3538cc89 The show premiered on what was then known as Spike in the United States on July 17, 2011. In the UK, the show originally aired on 5Star, later moving to Spike (UK), which is now 5Spike/5Action. 5c3538cc89 When L'Ermitage opened in late 1976, it was the first all-suite hotel in the United States. By the 1980s, each suite included a kitchen, dining room, and separate bath and shower rooms. The hotel was situated in a residential neighborhood and sought to distinguish itself through a reputation for exclusivity, fine dining, and guest service. During this period, L'Ermitage was the only Mobil Five-Star, AAA Five-diamond hotel in California. 5c3538cc89 == Biography == 5c3538cc89 This is the only season to feature an expert filling in for Jon Taffer in some rescues. 5c3538cc89 == History == 5c3538cc89 Momiji has locations on Capitol Hill and in South Lake Union. Serving Japanese cuisine, the menu has included sushi and sashimi, grilled squid, yakisoba noodle bowls, oyster shooters, and sake. According to Thrillist, "this modernist Asian-style seafood eatery is something of a Zen hideaway" in Capitol Hill. The restaurant has a front bar with a seating capacity of approximately 24, a separate dining room, and a garden courtyard. The bar features red walls and tin ceilings, and the brighter dining room has an open kitchen, cherrywood tables, large windows, and paper murals on the interior walls. 5c3538cc89 In 1964, twenty-nine-year-old Tana launched his own eatery by taking over the Dominick's hamburger restaurant on Santa Monica Boulevard in West Hollywood from an art-gallerist friend Chuck Feingarten for US$30,000 (US$287,000 in 2023) with a three-year payment schedule of US$10,000 annually. For decades prior, the location had also housed food hospitality venues: first, Black's Lucky Spot Café counter-style lunch joint catering to the workers doing maintenance on the Pacific Electric's old Red Car Trolley that ran outside along Santa Monica Blvd. until the 1950s, followed by Domenico's Lucky Spot. Tana originally named his newly acquired venue after his adopted last name only, Tana's, changing its concept to New York City-style Italian dinner spot with a small bar and hiring chef Michele Diguglio to run the kitchen. Tana's infectious personality and personal touch soon garnered a loyal clientele and he became synonymous with the restaurant, with his customers affectionately referring to... 5c3538cc89 In 1986, Ashkenazy Enterprises filed for bankruptcy... 5c3538cc89
