On this journey, approximately 25 kilometres (16 mi) long, the river crosses the following municipalities:

Malesco, Gurro, Valle Cannobina and finally Cannobio. The war crime was subject to a trial in West Germany in 1968 in which five of the accused were found guilty but later controversially released after a verdict by the German high court which ruled that the statute of limitations for the case had expired.

Built in just fourteen months, the hotel was opened in 1870 as the Grand Hotel Pallanza on the initiative of George Seyschab, who had already taken part in the founding of the Grand Hotel des Iles Borromées in Stresa ten years earlier. The modern and newly built hotel, conceived to welcome an elite international clientele, immediately became a landmark of luxury hospitality on the Piedmontese side of Lake Maggiore.
