

Uhaul Pick Up Truck Rental

Looking at the US Secret Service official website [1], the requirements to becoming a Special Agent (the kind that protects the President) seems fairly lax. A bachelor's degree and 3 years of police-related training (plus the 11+ week course). This led me to wonder, do the agents that protect the President have further levels of previous training? Obviously, when one is just starting off, the assignments and duties will be small. But suppose one reaches the highest level and is assigned and entrusted to protect the President, do these agents, for example, have former special forces training? Or is a special force background not required, as protective services is not as intense? Thanks. Acceptable 00:35, 31 October 2007 (UTC) 81fd4d61db

Car sharing began in Europe in the late 1940s, before spreading to North America, and is now an international phenomenon. The 2024 global market size for car sharing was valued at US$ 4.7 billion to 8.9 billion. Car sharing is growing: projections of the 2033 global market size range from US$14.3 to 24.4 billion. Europe was the global car sharing leader in 2024, with the highest adoption and market share at 38%. Emerging markets include Latin America... 81fd4d61db

Carsharing Car sharing is part of a larger trend of shared mobility. Unlike traditional car rental, collecting and returning the vehicle is often self-service through a mobile app and without entering an office or agency. In other models the owners are private individuals who organise as a cooperative or ad hoc grouping, or list their vehicles with a separate car sharing facilitator (peer-to-peer). (formerly known as Connect by Hertz), operating in the U. It also often differs in the length of hire and the cost structure. In 2010 Zipcar Carsharing or car sharing (AU, NZ, CA, TH, & US) or car clubs (UK) refers to several models of car rental or car use, where people rent cars for short periods of time, often by the hour.
