For South America, the model line was manufactured by General Motors de Argentina from 1960 to 1978, Sevel Argentina from 1986... The model was launched under the company's new "One Ford" strategy, which called for single models to be manufactured and sold globally to achieve efficiency and economies of scale, instead of making regional models. Production started at Ford's Cologne plant in Germany in August 2008. A second plant in Valencia, Spain started production in early 2009. Productions in China, Thailand and Mexico started between late 2008 to 2010. In Brazil, the production of the hatchback version started in 2013. Though developed for global sales, it was initially not marketed in the United States and Canada, with Ford at the time instead concentrating its resources on turbocharged versions of the F-150. In 2019 the Ranger T6 was released in North America, slotted below the full-sized F-150 and above the compact Maverick upon its 2022 release. In late 2021 the second generation Ranger T6 was revealed for 2022 production, adopting a revised T6 platform known as "T6.2" with an updated body design. == Ford Cléon-Fonte == e7288d29e4 Renault has been present in Brazil since the 1960s, initially through a partnership with the American company Willys Overland, which produced under license cars of the French automaker. At the end of 1961, Willys introduced the Interlagos, a copy of the Alpine A110, producing also other models, like the Dauphine and the Dauphine Gordini, until 1968. That year Willys Overland sold its operations to Ford do Brasil, which inherited the "project M". This project, developed by the Renault and Willys partnership, resulted in the launch of the Ford Corcel, a car whose style can be considered, roughly, an Americanized version of the Renault 12 with a CH1 engine. e7288d29e4
