The Simpsons opening sequence The first The Simpsons opening sequence is the title sequence of the American animated television series The Simpsons. The first episode to use this introduction was the series' second episode "Bart the Genius", released on January 14, 1990. The standard opening has had two major revisions. It is accompanied by "The Simpsons Theme". different visual gags accompany the family as they enter their living room to sit on the couch 16c67dbec5

The camera then follows the members of the Simpson family on their way home. Upon entering their house, the Simpsons settle down on their couch to watch television. One of the most distinctive aspects of the opening is that three of its elements change from episode to episode: Bart writes different phrases on the school chalkboard, Lisa plays different solos on her saxophone (or occasionally a different instrument), and different visual gags accompany the family as they enter their living room to sit on the couch. 16c67dbec5

Originally shown only in a limited release in California, The Room quickly became a cult film due to its bizarre and unconventional storytelling, technical and narrative issues, and Wiseau's performance. Although Wiseau has retrospectively described the film as a black comedy, audiences have generally viewed it as a poorly made drama, an opinion shared by some of the cast... 16c67dbec5 == Series overview == 16c67dbec5 Five on the Black Hand Side was conceived as "an antidote" to the "blaxploitation" films of the era. The film's tagline was: "You've been coffy-tized, blacularized and super-flied – but now you're gonna be glorified, unified and filled-with-pride... when you see Five on the Black Hand Side." 16c67dbec5 Living Room was created by Tamsie Ringler, a Mt. Hood Community College visual arts instructor and resident of Sandy, Oregon. It was installed as a permanent art installation at the Gresham Central Transit Center at Northeast Eighth Street and Kelly Avenue in 2001. The sculpture was the first east Multnomah County artwork commissioned by TriMet's Public Art Program and Ringler's first publicly funded art commission. Ringler began working on the sculpture two years earlier. Her work was chosen by TriMet's Public Art Advisory Committee from three finalists. TriMet spokesperson Mary Fetsch said, "When the eastside line was built, we didn't have an art committee. It's been really nice that as we add new features to the line that we also add art. It's also great that we had local artists and students working on it. We think it really reflects the community." 16c67dbec5

All members of Couch except the drummer, Jared Gozinsky, are from Greater Boston, Massachusetts. They knew each other from school and other community activities and formed the band in Boston in the fall of 2018. They worked together virtually for three years while studying in different locations, with each member typically contributing to the songwriting and producing process. Their debut EP Couch was released in February 2021, followed by Sunshower (2023) and The Sweater Sessions (2024). Couch, managed by their guitarist, Zach Blankstein, has performed at major festivals like Boston Calling and Levitate Music & Arts Festival. They received the Salt Lick Incubator Award, with an advisory board including Charlie Puth, Jon Batiste, and Susan Tedeschi. In April 2025, they headlined The Town and the City Festival in Lowell, MA. The band's self-produced debut studio...

The Room The Room is a 2003 American independent romantic drama and black comedy film written, directed, produced, and starring Tommy Wiseau. The stage play from which the film is derived was so named due to its events taking place entirely in a single room. Set in San Francisco, the film is centered around a melodramatic love triangle between amiable banker Johnny (Wiseau), his deceptive fiancée Lisa (Danielle), and his conflicted best friend Mark (Sestero). According to Wiseau, the title alludes to the potential of a room to be the site of both good and bad events. The work was reportedly intended to be semi-autobiographical. Around this same time when Cardamone and Devore were working on various musical projects at the Magic Castle in Hollywood, Aaron North sent an email to The Icarus Line's management notifying that he would be leaving the group. At the time it wasn't a shock considering the amount of drugs everyone was on and the fact that there had been talk of moving Don Devore into the guitar position in favor of exploring new territory stylistically. 16c67dbec5 Lionsgate Films began developing a Black Widow film in April 2004, with David Hayter attached to write and direct.
