Historically, this well plays a major role in joining the people in this part of the country, breaking the caste-based discrimination that once prevailed among them. Before and during the period of Lord Vaikundar, this part of the subcontinent was under the grip of feudalism, casteism, and untouchability. There were separate wells and tanks for each caste, and people from the other caste were not allowed to draw out water from those wells. As in the Vinchai, since the social aim of 'uplifting the lowly treated people in the society' occupies a major part in the spiritual mission of Vaikundar, which is projected towards the ideal Dharma Yukam, he wanted to stop this evil practice. So as the first step to reach this aim, this well was established at Swamithoppe. Apart from

The main alternative to baby-led weaning is traditional spoon feeding. Spoon feeding may be done in a responsive feeding method or in a non-responsive, coercive style (either forcing an already-full baby to eat more food, or refusing to give more food to a still-hungry baby). There is no good scientific evidence that BLW is better than traditional spoon feeding for most babies, though non-responsive, coercive feeding styles are harmful.

Baby-Led Introduction to Solids (BLISS) is a variation on baby-led weaning that recommends presenting three different types of food at each feeding.
