St Augustine's Church, Flimwell erected on what was then known as the Furzy Fields, and was completed in 1839. The building as originally erected was much smaller than it is today, consisting c7362e34c2

Nonlinear optics The crystal temperature is controlled to achieve phase-matching conditions. The other method is quasi-phase-matching. is highly temperature-dependent c7362e34c2

Anomaly matching condition anomaly matching condition by Gerard 't Hooft states that the calculation of any chiral anomaly for the flavor symmetry must not depend on what scale is chosen c7362e34c2

Schema matching For example, in the two schemas DB1. For this article, we differentiate the two as follows: schema matching is The terms schema matching and mapping are often used interchangeably for a database process. matching and mapping are often used interchangeably for a database process. For this article, we differentiate the two as follows: schema matching is the process of identifying that two objects are semantically related (scope of this article) while mapping refers to the transformations between the objects. Two-way string-matching algorithm In computer science, the two-way string-matching algorithm is a string-searching algorithm, discovered by Maxime Crochemore and Dominique Perrin in 1991 c7362e34c2

Automating these two approaches has been one of the fundamental tasks of data integration. In general, it is not possible to determine fully automatically the different correspondences between two schemas — primarily because of the differing and often not explicated or documented semantics of the two schemas. c7362e34c2

Among others, common challenges to automating matching and mapping have been previously classified in especially for relational DB schemas; and in – a fairly comprehensive list of heterogeneity not limited to the relational model recognizing... and DB2.Grad-Student (Name, ID, Major, Grades); possible matches would be: DB1.Student $\approx$ DB2.Grad-Student; DB1.SSN = DB2.ID etc. and possible transformations or mappings would be: DB1.Marks to DB2.Grades (100–90 A; 90–80 B: etc.).

Manual transmission Some trucks have transmissions. The synchronized down shift rev-matching system is a computer-controlled technology that mimics the manual rev-matching technique
