Window blind Vertical blinds run along a track system which can tilt open and closed and move side-to-side. A typical window blind is made up of several long horizontal or vertical slats of various types of hard material, including wood, plastic or metal which are held together by cords that run through the blind slats. Window blinds can be manoeuvred with either a manual or remote control by rotating them from an open position, with slats spaced out, to a closed position where slats overlap and block out most of the light. There are also several types of window coverings, called shades, that use a single piece of soft material instead of slats. Roller blinds are a type of window blind that is typically made from a A window blind is a type of window covering (also known as blinds). areas with a lot of moisture, such as bathrooms or windows above a kitchen sink.
