Current usage of the term "visual arts" includes fine art as well as applied or decorative arts and crafts, but this was not always the case. Before the Arts and Crafts Movement in Britain and elsewhere at the turn of the 20th century, the term 'artist' had for some centuries often been restricted to a person working in the fine arts (such as painting, sculpture, or printmaking) and not the decorative arts, crafts, or applied visual arts media. The distinction was emphasized by artists of the Arts and Crafts Movement, who valued vernacular art forms as much as high forms. Art schools made a distinction between the fine arts and the crafts, maintaining that a craftsperson could not be considered a practitioner of the... 15,000 drawings, 1.5 million prints Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam, Netherlands The term recreation appears to have been used in English first in the late 14th century, first in the sense of "refreshment or curing of a sick person", and derived turn from Latin (re: "again", create: "to create, bring forth, beget"). 39,000 drawings, 486,000 prints British Museum, London, England

The series focuses on the fictional inhabitants of a parallel universe which are called Clanners; the first Clanner was created when a human DNA molecule merged with a quantum of electromagnetic energy inside a computer. This similarly happened with other types of DNA molecules and electronics, thus creating the Clanners and their world. The Clanners have traits of humans, animals or robots, and have a curiosity of the human world. The Clanners are divided into four tribes: Minisapiens (humanoid beings), Biotron (beings with characteristic animal features), Amorfex (beings made of liquid), and iTrops (futuristic robots), but are nevertheless together. One of the Clanners, Render, is the only one that can access the human world, and will bring any object to the Clanners world that interests him and for others to learn from. 155639d2c1 == Plot == 155639d2c1 The Metropolitan Museum of Art *, New York, US 155639d2c1 == Characters == 155639d2c1 After a hypothetical Third World War, Earth was damaged and the key cities were reduced to asphalt deserts. The fresco depicts a congregation of ancient mathematicians, philosophers, and scientists, with Plato and Aristotle featured in the center. The identities of most figures are ambiguous or discernible only through subtle details or allusions; among those commonly identified are Socrates, Pythagoras, Archimedes, Heraclitus, Ibn Rushd (known as Averroes in the west), Euclid, and Zarathustra. Additionally, Italian artists Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo are believed to be portrayed through Plato and Heraclitus, respectively. Raphael included a self-portrait beside Ptolemy. 155639d2c1 Goya's early career as a painter in the court of Charles III is marked by portraits of the Spanish aristocracy and tapestry cartoons in a Rococo style. Continuing to produce official portraits and paintings for the courts of Charles IV and Ferdinand VII, Goya's middle period is also notable for print series that satirize the human condition and show the brutalities of war. 155639d2c1 The painting is notable for its use of accurate perspective... 155639d2c1 == Synopsis == 155639d2c1 John the Baptist is often depicted with a lamb. The animal is said to symbolise the sacrifice of the saint as an innocent victim of the wickedness of mankind, or it could be that the saint is pointing towards Jesus Christ, whose symbol is the paschal lamb (John 1:29–36). Bosch's painting differs from other paintings of John the Baptist in the fantastical objects he depicts. 155639d2c1 Victoria & Albert Museum, London, England 155639d2c1 Over 20,000 drawings and 700,000 prints 155639d2c1 The band Maldita Nerea recorded a song titled "Bienvenido a nuestro Clan" for the show. An additional 26 episodes were made in 2004 and aired in Germany in 2006. 155639d2c1 The painting forms a pair with St. John the Evangelist on Patmos which is in Berlin. In the 1940s it was noticed that the two paintings could have been designed as the wings of an altarpiece. It has since been suggested that the altarpiece in question was an artwork which is known to have been made for St. John's Cathedral, 's-Hertogenbosch. The painting is difficult to date. If the 's-Hertogenbosch hypothesis is correct, the date would be around 1489, although later dates have been proposed based on other criteria. 155639d2c1 National Gallery in Prague, Collection of Prints and Drawings, Prague, Czech Republic 155639d2c1 Due to the demand for Goya's works since the 19th century, there is a large number of works falsely attributed to the artist in museums around the world and in private collections. Following the interpretation of Goya made by the French Romantics (later extended to Spain and the rest of the world), many 19th century painters such as Leonardo Alenza or Eugenio Lucas Velázquez produced works of low quality that they deliberately... 155639d2c1
