The vast majority of the current border was decided after the Mexican–American War (1846–1848). Most of the border is situated along the Rio Grande River, which marks the boundary between Texas and northeastern Mexico. Four American Sun Belt states border Mexico: California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. One definition of Northern Mexico includes only the six Mexican states that border the U.S.: Baja California, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo León, Sonora and Tamaulipas. The total length of the continental border is 3,145 kilometers (1,954 miles). 4f4545cd68 The Jicarilla called themselves also Haisndayin, translated as "people who came from below" because they believed themselves to be the sole descendants of the first people to emerge from the underworld. The underworld was the home of Ancestral Man and Ancestral Woman, who produced the first people. The Jicarilla believed Hascin, their chief deity, created Ancestral Man and Ancestral Woman, as well as all the animals, the sun, and the moon. 4f4545cd68 == Taxonomy and systematics == 4f4545cd68

in genus Xolmis through much of the twentieth century. By the 1990s several authors had moved it to the new genus Heteroxolmis. The IOC had adopted the change by 2008. The South American Classification Committee of the American Ornithological Society (SACC) and the Clements taxonomy followed suit in 2021. However, as of December 2024 BirdLife International's Handbook of the Birds of the World retains the species as Xolmis dominicanus. Because the move of this species and several others from Xolmis resulted in species of several genera being called "monjita", the SACC is seeking a proposal to adopt new English names.
